§ 10 Project Module for Dual Studies

(1) For students of the dual study form according to Section 7 subsection 5 of these regulations, a company-integrated project module dual study is a mandatory component of the joint master’s programs in “European Film Business and Law (LL.M.)” and “European Film Business and Law (MBA).”

(2) During the dual study project module, students deepen the subject-specific and subject-methodological knowledge acquired in the other modules and apply it in professional practice. Furthermore, students acquire industry-specific knowledge and learn about various aspects of operational decision-making processes.

(3) Students complete the dual study project module in the company with which they have an employment relationship or for which they work, working individually or in groups of usually three to five students from the study program. The work is usually done on a specific project and must be distinct from other work performed as part of the employment relationship with or work for the company.

(4) During the dual study project module, students are continuously supervised by a supervisor in the respective participating company as well as by a teacher from the respective master’s program.

(5) The work on the projects within the framework of the dual study project module, as well as regular meetings with the supervisors in the respective participating companies during the project module, are carried out in an independent manner by the students.

(6) The Examining Board may, upon application by students of the dual form of study pursuant to Section 7 subsection 5, credit relevant professional experience of at least three years beyond the one year of professional experience required for admission to the extent of 30 credit points. The requirements for crediting must be proven to the Examining Board. The crediting according to sentence 1 replaces the dual study project module, which no longer has to be completed in case of crediting according to sentence

1. The decision of the Examining Board according to sentence 1 shall be made in a written document, which shall be accompanied by instructions on how to appeal.

§ 11 Project Module

(1) For students of the non-dual form according to Section 7 subsection 6 of these regulations, a company-integrated project module is a mandatory component of the joint master's programs in "European Film Business and Law (LL.M.)" and "European Film Business and Law (MBA)."

(2) During the company-integrated project module, students deepen the subject-specific and subject-methodological knowledge acquired in the other modules and apply it in professional practice. Furthermore, students acquire industry-specific knowledge and learn about various aspects of operational decision-making processes.

(3) Students complete the project module in group work of usually three to five students of the study program in a company participating in the project module of the study program.

(4) During the project module, the students are continuously supervised by a supervisor in the respective participating company as well as by a teacher of the respective master's program.

(5) The work on the projects within the framework of the project module, as well as regular meetings with the supervisors in the respective participating companies during the project module, are carried out in an independent manner by the students.

(6) At the beginning of the project module, participating companies, students and project topics are introduced in an opening event and then groups are formed and assigned to the project topics primarily by free choice of the students. If the formation of groups by free choice of the students does not lead to an equal distribution of the students to the project topics, the students will be distributed by lottery.

(7) The Examining Board may, upon application by students of the non-dual form of study pursuant to Section 7 subsection 6, credit relevant professional experience of at least three years beyond the one year of professional experience required for admission to the extent of 30 credit points. The requirements for crediting must be proven to the Examining Board. The crediting according to sentence 1 replaces the project module, which no longer has to be completed in case of crediting according to sentence 1. The decision of the Examining Board according to sentence 1 shall be made in a written document, which shall be accompanied by instructions on how to appeal.

§ 12 Persons Entitled to Take the Examination and Entitlement to the Examination

(1) In accordance with the Brandenburg Higher Education Act, academic staff working full-time at a university, lecturers and persons experienced in professional practice and training are authorized to conduct examinations. Examinations should only be held by persons who fulfill teaching duties. Examination can only be evaluated by persons who themselves possess at least the qualification to be established by the examination.

(2) The authorization to hold examinations is related to the subject in which the respective instructor at the University of Potsdam or at the Film University regularly holds a course that prepares students for the examination, or held a course at most four semesters before the examination. The Examining Board makes decisions regarding exceptions pertaining to the requirement of subject affiliation and the cutoff period.

(3) Only students who are enrolled in the degree program are entitled to participate in the performance-assessing process of a module.

(4) The following applies for students in the "European Film Business and Law" (MBA) program: If a module examination, a partial module examination or the final examination is not completed at the latest after the end of four semesters, after the semester specified in the study plan, an academic consultation must be held with the responsible university lecturer. The goal of the academic consultation is the conclusion of an agreement in which the further course of study is planned and the student commits him/herself to certain measures to achieve the study goals and further measures of the university suitable for promoting the further course of study are agreed upon (academic advising agreement). In determining obligations, the student's personal situation shall be given due consideration. Students are to be exmatriculated if they have not fulfilled the obligation to attend an academic consultation session or have refused to conclude an academic advising agreement or have failed to meet the requirements set out in an academic advising agreement by the specified date in a justifiable manner. This does not apply if the student concerned was not made aware of these consequences together with the invitation or when concluding the academic advising agreement.

(5) For students in the degree program “European Film Business and Law“ (LL.M.), Section 7a of the BAMA-O of the University of Potsdam applies accordingly, in deviation from Section 1 subsection 2 and subsection 3 of these regulations.

§ 13 Master’s Examination

(1) Upon passing the master’s examination, the degree program is successfully completed. The master’s examination consists of the module examinations (Section 14), the master’s thesis (Section 15) and the oral examination in defense of the master’s thesis (colloquium) (Section 16).

(2) The master’s examination is passed if the module examinations, the master’s thesis and the oral examination have each been assessed with at least the grade “sufficient” (4.0).

§ 14 Module Examinations

(1) Each module is concluded with a final module examination. The type of final module examination is determined by the module description in Appendix 1 to these regulations. If several forms of examination are permitted in the module descriptions, only one form of examination may be used for a module in a semester of an academic year. In the case of sentence 2, the Module Commissioner of the respective module decides on the type of examination form before the start of the courses of the module.

(2) The current regulations of the RSP apply to the admissibility of the forms of examination, including remote examinations.

§ 15 Master’s Thesis

(1) The master’s thesis is an examination achievement and final thesis of the degree program and is usually written in the last semester of the degree program. The master’s thesis should demonstrate that the candidate has acquired expanded and advanced competences in an advanced course of study, is capable of combining theory and empirical findings, can apply discipline-specific methodologies on a scholarly basis to deal with an application-oriented problem within a given time frame, and is able to present the results thereof in a formal, linguistically and professionally convincing manner.

(2) As soon as the student has acquired at least 72 credit points, the student is entitled to the immediate assignment of a topic for the Master's thesis.

(3) The Master's thesis is assigned and supervised by an examiner appointed by the examination board. The candidate has the right to propose the topic supervisor as well as the topic. The topic of the master’s thesis can also refer to the company in which the dual study project module according to Section 10 or the project module according to Section 11 was completed. The topic is assigned by the chairperson of the Examining Board. The date of assignment shall be made a matter of record there.

(4) The master’s thesis is completed in the course of university studies. The topic of the master’s thesis and the necessary amount of research and work resulting from it must be based on the workload, which, including the oral examination, comprises 30 credit points.

(5) The processing time for the master’s thesis is six months. The processing period begins on the day on which the topic of the master’s thesis is handed over in accordance with subsection 3. The work is considered to be completed on time when it is submitted to EPI before the specified deadline.

(6) The topic can only be returned once within the first two months.

(7) If the candidate culpably misses the submission deadline, the thesis receives a grade of “insufficient” (5.0). If there is a substantial reason for missing the deadline, the chairperson of the Examining Board may, after consultation with the supervisor, grant an extension of the deadline of up to one month, in the case of illness corresponding to the duration of the sick leave.

(8) The master’s thesis is a paper written in English specifically for the master’s examination. If both examiners declare their consent, the Examining Board can also allow the thesis to be composed in another language. If the thesis is composed in a foreign language, it must contain an appendix with a brief summary in English.

(9) The master’s thesis must be submitted in three physical copies and one digital copy. The thesis must have page numbers, a table of contents, and a list of the sources consulted and aids used. Passages of the thesis that are quoted or paraphrased from other works must be identified in the bibliography. As a rule, the length of the thesis should not exceed 50 pages DIN A4 without appendices and indexes. At the conclusion of the thesis, the candidate must affirm that the candidate composed the thesis independently and did not use any sources or aids other than those listed.

(10) The master's thesis must be graded by two examiners within 6 weeks at the latest. The examiners appraise the thesis in writing and explain their grading in accordance with Section 19. The first examiner is the supervisor who assigned the topic of the master's thesis. The second examiner is appointed by the Examining Board; the candidate has a right to propose a second examiner. The grade is formed from the arithmetic mean of the evaluations of the two examiners. If the difference in the grades is greater than 2.0, or if one of the grades is worse than "sufficient," then the Examining Board will appoint a third examiner. If two of the three examiners then grade the thesis as "insufficient" (5.0), then the final grade for the thesis is "insufficient" (5.0). Otherwise, the final grade is the arithmetic mean of the three grades.

(11) A master's thesis that receives a grade of "insufficient" (5.0) can only be repeated once.

§ 16 Oral Examination for the Defense of the Master's Thesis (Colloquium)

(1) After submission of the master's thesis, the Examining Board shall determine the date for the oral examination. The oral defense only takes place if the thesis has received a final grade of "sufficient" (4.0) or better under Section 15 subsection 10. The oral examination is conducted as an individual examination before two examiners. As a rule, the examiners are the supervisor of the master's thesis and the second examiner of the master's thesis.

(2) The oral examination usually lasts 30 minutes to a maximum of 60 minutes. It consists of the defense of the thesis (disputation) and a subsequent examination discussion, which should not exceed one quarter of the examination time. The subject of the examination discussion can be all contents of the compulsory modules and the elective modules taken, as in the module catalog according to Appendix 1 to these regulations. A record shall be kept of the examination, which shall contain the main items and results.

(3) The oral examination shall be assessed with a grade in accordance with Section 19.

(4) If the oral defense receives a grade of "insufficient" (5.0), it can be repeated one time.

§ 17 Delays in Assessing Performance

(1) If students miss an examination event without good cause or drop out before completing the event, an "insufficient" performance will be recorded. The same applies if written work is not completed within the specified processing time without good reason.

(2) The reasons asserted for the failure to attend or the discontinuation must be communicated to the Examining Board in writing without delay (within 3 working days) and must be credible. In the event of illness, a medical certificate attesting to the inability to take the examination is generally required (a certificate of incapacity to work for employees is not sufficient) and must generally be issued no later than on the day of the examination. If the Examining Board accepts the reasons, a new date will be scheduled without delay. Decisions of the Examining Board on the recognition of the asserted reasons must be communicated to the student in writing without delay and must be accompanied by a statement of reasons and an appeal notice. The student must be given an opportunity to be heard before a decision is made.

§ 18 Retaking Examinations

(1) Insofar as these regulations do not contain any other provisions, examinations may be repeated twice in the event of an assessment with the grade "insufficient." It is not possible to retake passed examinations. In the case of performance graded as "insufficient" based on the grading of only one authorized examiner, a second, independent assessment of the performance must be made at the request of a person involved. This assessment must be done by a person authorized to administer examinations who is named by the Examining Board. The second repetition of a failed examination must be carried out by two authorized examiners. If the second repetition of the examination performance is again evaluated with "insufficient," this examination is considered as finally not passed.

(2) If the module examination of a mandatory module of the degree program chosen from Section 2 subsection 1 or subsection 2 is definitively not passed, the examination for the entire course of study shall be deemed definitively not passed. If the module examination of an elective module of the course of study chosen from Section 2 subsection 1 or subsection 2 is definitively not passed, another elective module of the course of study chosen from Section 2 subsection 1 or subsection 2 must be chosen. In this context, after two elective modules have been definitively failed, the following modules are equivalent to a mandatory module. If another elective module is no longer available in the course of study selected from Section 2 subsection 1 or subsection 2, the examination for the entire course of study shall also be deemed to have been definitively failed in this case.

(3) The final failure of the examination for the entire course of study shall be determined by the Examining Board, which shall immediately notify the student. The Examining Board makes decisions about appeals against this notice.

(4) When retaking an examination, the associated courses do not have to be attended again. Students may waive the exemption from attendance.

§ 19 Evaluation of Examinations

(1) The following numeric values are permitted as grades for examination achievements:

1 = very good (an outstanding performance)

2 = good (an achievement that exceeds average requirements considerably)

3 = satisfactory (an achievement that meets the average requirements)

4 = sufficient (an achievement that, despite flaws, still meets the requirements)

5 = insufficient (an achievement that, due to significant problems, does not meet the requirements)

(2) In order to facilitate better differentiation, intermediate grades can also be used, which results in the following grade scale:

1.0; 1.3; 1.7; 2.0; 2.3; 2.7; 3.0; 3.3; 3.7; 4.0; 5.0.

(3) An examination is passed if a grade of at least "sufficient" (4.0) is received.

(4) For the dual study project module, the assessment is based on Section 10 subsection 10 of these regulations. (4) For the project module, the assessment is based on Section 11 subsection 11 of these regulations.

§ 20 Module Grades and Overall Grade

(1) The overall grade of the master's degree is calculated from the module grades, the grade for the master's thesis (Section 15) and the oral examination (Section 16). This overall grade includes two thirds of the module grades and one third of the master's thesis including the oral examination. Within the module examinations, the individual examinations are weighted according to the ratio of their credit points. For the master's thesis, the written work is weighted at 75 percent and the oral examination at 25 percent.

(2) The overall grade is determined with the following weighting:

1. The average of all module grades weighted by the respective credit points: 2/3

2. The grade of the master thesis including the oral examination: 1/3

3. The determined value is truncated after the first decimal place behind the decimal point without prior rounding.

4. The result thus determined yields the following grades:

1.0 down to and including 1.2: "with distinction"

1.3 down to and including 1.5: "very good"

1.6 down to and including 2.5: "good"

2.6 down to and including 3.5: "satisfactory"

3.6 down to and including 4.0: "sufficient"

§ 21 Reconciliation of Disadvantage

(1) If a student demonstrates that he or she is unable to complete all or part of a course of study or examination in the prescribed form because of a disability or chronic illness, the Examining Board shall, upon written application and in consultation with the student and the respective examiner, determine measures by which equivalent course of study and examination work can be completed within an extended processing time or in another form.

(2) If compliance with deadlines for the first-time registration for examinations, the repetition of examinations, the reasons for missing examinations and the compliance with processing times for examination papers are concerned, the disability/chronic illness of the student and the necessary sole care of a close relative are equivalent to the disability/chronic illness of the student. Close relatives are children, parents, grandparents, spouses and partners in a non-marital partnership.

(3) Upon application to the Examining Board, the claim of periods of protection shall be considered under Section 3 subsection 2 and Section 6 subsection 1 of the Maternity Protection Act (Mutterschutzgesetz, or MuSchG), as well as the provisions for parental leave in Sections 15 and 16 of the Law on Parental Benefits and Parental Leave (Gesetz zum Elterngeld und zur Elternzeit, or BEEG).

(4) Persons living in the same household with a child for whom they are responsible shall be entitled to take individual examinations after the expiration of the time limits provided for in the examination regulations. The same applies to the deadlines and processing times for the completion of coursework and examinations as well as for repeat examinations. Deadlines are typically initially extended by up to two semesters, and processing times are extended by one-third of the entire processing time provided. This right to compensation for disadvantage expires with the conclusion of the semester in which the requirements named no longer apply. The use of this regulation is done upon request. The Examining Board decides on further individual arrangements and the provision of equivalent study and examination achievements in another form in consultation with the student and the respective examiner.

(5) Upon written application to the Examining Board, participation in statutory bodies and statutory organs of the University of Potsdam or the Film University as well as in statutory organs of student self-administration at the University of Potsdam or the Film University may be taken into account. For this reason, individual examinations and university examinations may be taken after the deadlines specified in the regulations have expired. The deadlines can be extended by a maximum of two semesters for this reason.

§ 22 Recognition and Consideration of Achievements

(1) Periods of study, examinations, and academic achievements that have been completed in degree programs at other domestic and foreign universities, at corresponding distance learning units, or in other degree programs at the Film University or the University of Potsdam are to be recognized, unless there are significant differences with regard to the competencies acquired (learning outcomes). If recognition of examination and study achievements is refused, reasons must be given. The applicant may appeal against the rejection notice.

(2) Knowledge and skills acquired outside of higher education shall be credited up to 50% to the study program if they are equivalent in content and level to the part of the study program that is to be replaced.

(3) Recognition according to subsections 1 and 2 is initiated upon application by the student. The application for recognition should be submitted to EPI at the time of admission to the program. The application for recognition of examination and study achievements gained through study periods at other universities during the course of studies must be submitted immediately afterwards, usually within one semester. The board of examiners decides on the recognition after the responsible professor has given his or her opinion and, if necessary, after the dean of studies has given his or her opinion by means of an official notification, which must be accompanied by instructions on how to appeal. After the expiration of the aforementioned deadlines, the recognition procedure will be rejected.

(4) In the case of recognition of an examination and study performance, credit points are credited to the extent to which they would have been acquired in the case of corresponding performance at the Film University or the University of Potsdam.

(5) The grade of a recognized performance is adopted.

§ 23 Fraud, Scientific Misconduct

(1) If a candidate attempts to influence the result of his/her examination performance by deception or the use of unauthorized aids, the corresponding examination performance will be graded as “insufficient” (5.0). A candidate who collaborates on an attempt to cheat can be excluded from continuing the examination by the examiner or proctor; in this case, the affected examination is graded as “insufficient” (5.0). In severe cases, especially those that qualify as criminal acts, the Examining Board can prohibit the affected candidate from completing further examinations. The Examining Board makes its decision after consulting with the candidate.

(2) A candidate who seriously disrupts the proper conduct of an examination event may be excluded from further participation in the current examination event by the respective teacher or supervisor; in this case, the examination event in question will be graded “insufficient” (5.0).

(3) If the candidate submits written work relevant to the examination, and he or she is found guilty of academic misconduct, the following procedure will be followed:

1. The corresponding examination is graded as “insufficient.”

2. The instructor concerned informs the chairperson of the Examining Board and can refuse to allow the same candidate to take further examinations.

3. The examination performance assessed as “insufficient” is noted in the examination administration system, with an additional remark indicating academic misconduct.

4. If this scholarly misconduct is repeated, or in cases of serious and deliberate scholarly misconduct, the Examining Board can prohibit the affected candidate from completing further examinations. The Examining Board makes its decision after consulting with the candidate. A series case of deliberate scholarly misconduct exists in particular if

a) more than half of the work is based on plagiarism or other scholarly misconduct,

b) the candidate attempts to obstruct, by means of dishonest behavior, the explanation of the scholarly misconduct,

c) the scholarly misconduct causes a disadvantage to another student in the submission of their own work,

d) the scholarly misconduct was committed for commercial reasons or to acquire illicit financial gains, or

e) the candidate has abused an employment relationship with the University of Potsdam or the Film University.

5. Upon request of the candidate or the chairperson of the Examining Board, the individual case will be submitted to the Ombudsman or the Commission for Scholarly Misconduct for a decision in accordance with the guidelines enumerated in "Self-Monitoring in the Sciences - Rules for Ensuring Good Scientific Practices at the University of Potsdam" of February 14, 2002 (Official Announcements of the Universität Potsdam No.2/2002, p. 18). Section II, 2., 2.1. p. 3 and 2.3. Subsections 1 to 2e of the "Self-Monitoring in the Sciences - Rules for Ensuring Good Scientific Practices at the University of Potsdam" guidelines also apply. The results of the investigation will be submitted to the Examining Board with a recommendation and further consideration.

6. Depending on the severity of the infraction, the Examining Board may impose further sanctions, up to and including the declaration of "final failure" of the examination performance.

(4) To be able to investigate suspected scholarly misconduct, examiners are authorized to request that examination achievements completed by students without the supervision of a proctor be submitted in electronic form.

(5) Students must be informed immediately in writing of any adverse decisions, the reasons for such decisions must be stated, and the decision must be accompanied by instructions on how to appeal.

(6) Details are specified in the current version of the guidelines for ensuring good scientific practices for students at the University of Potsdam (plagiarism guidelines) dated October 20, 2010 (Official Announcements of the University of Potsdam no. 1/2011, p. 37).

(7) If it subsequently transpires that scientific misconduct was involved in a written performance relevant to the examination, the examination decision issued may be revoked and the measures specified in subsection 3 may be taken. Revocation is excluded if more than five years have passed since the completion of the examination.

§ 24 Record of Completion, Documents, Certificates

(1) If a student has completed the required credit points in all partial fields required for graduation, and if all of the graduation requirements enumerated in these regulations are fulfilled, then the student graduates without a special application. In this case, she or he will receive a certificate. The transcript lists all modules and the master's thesis, indicating the credit points earned and, if applicable, the grading information. The certificate also includes the overall grade.

(2) The certificate is issued with the date of the day on which the last examination performance was assessed. In the case of the study program according to Section 2 subsection 1, the certificate is signed by the chairperson of the Examining Board. In the case of the study program according to Section 2 subsection 2, the certificate is signed by the President or the chairperson of the Examining Board. The certificate bears the seals of the University of Potsdam and the Film University. The certificate contains the "Diploma Supplement," the "Transcript of Records" and the final grade statistics as an attachment.

(3) In the case of the degree program pursuant to Section 2, subsection 1, in addition to the certificate with the same date, a certificate of award of the academic degree "Master of Laws (LL.M.);" shall be issued, which shall indicate the degree program and the overall grade. (3) In the case of the degree program pursuant to Section 2, subsection 2, in addition to the certificate with the same date, a certificate of award of the academic degree "Master of Business and Administration (MBA)" shall be issued, which shall indicate the degree program and the overall grade. The certificate according to sentence 1 or sentence 2 is signed by the chairperson of the Examining Board and the Dean of the Faculty of Law of the University of Potsdam as well as the President of the Film University; it bears the seals of the University of Potsdam and the Film University.

(4) The certificate, degree certificate, diploma supplement, transcript of records and final grade statistics shall be issued in German. In addition to these graduation documents, the students will receive English translations thereof.

(5) The right to use the academic degree “Master of Laws (LL.M.)” is acquired with the award of the certificate pursuant to subsection 3, sentence 1. (5) The right to use the academic degree “Master of Business and Administration (MBA)” is acquired with the award of the certificate pursuant to subsection 3, sentence 2.

(6) Students who are de-registered without having obtained the Master's degree, shall be issued upon request a written confirmation stating the study and examination achievements and, in the case of failed examinations, the number of examination attempts taken. If the student has irrevocably failed the Master's examination, the confirmation pursuant to sentence 1 shall additionally indicate that the Master's examination has been failed irrevocably.

§ 25 Deficiencies in the Examination Procedure

(1) If it is found that the examination procedure was flawed in a way that significantly violated equal opportunities, the Examining Board may, at the request of a candidate or ex officio, order that the examination or individual parts thereof be repeated by a particular candidate or by all candidates.

(2) An application in accordance with subsection 1 must be submitted to the Examining Board without delay. It must not contain any conditions and cannot be withdrawn. The claim is excluded if one month has elapsed since the performance of the deficient examination.

§ 26 Invalidity of Graduation

(1) If a candidate has cheated on an examination or thesis, and this fact only becomes known after the certificate has been issued, the Examining Board, in consultation with the Faculty Council of the Faculty of Law of the University of Potsdam and the Faculty

Council of Faculty I of the Film University, may subsequently withdraw the affected credit points or adjust their grades accordingly. This can result in the cancellation of graduation.

(2) If the requirements for participating in the performance assessment were not met, and if the student did not intend to mislead anyone in this regard, and this fact first becomes known after the issuance of a transcript, then this mistake is remedied by the awarding of credit points. If the candidate intentionally engaged in deception to participate in the examination, then the Examining Board, in consultation with the the Faculty of Law of the University of Potsdam and the Faculty Council of Faculty I of the Film University Faculty Council, shall make a decision about whether to retract the certificate.

(3) Before the decision is made, the candidate must be given an opportunity to make a statement.

(4) The incorrect certificate must be collected and re-issued if necessary. The graduation certificate must be collected along with the incorrect transcript if graduation was improperly authorized on the basis of a deception.

(5) The provisions governing the retraction of an academic degree remain unaffected.

§ 27 Viewing of Examination Files

(1) After the evaluation of an examination event, the candidates are informed about the result and are given access to the respective documents relevant for the evaluation. The deadline for this inspection ends typically two months after the grade is announced. Teachers are required to submit the evaluation to EPI within four weeks of the end of the examination event. Students are encouraged to review their performance summary prior to the start of the enrollment period.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection 1, the documents from the performance recording process relevant to the evaluation shall be kept by the teaching staff for one year. Afterwards they can be issued to the students or discarded.

(3) Within one year after completion of the examination procedure, the candidate will be granted access to the expert opinions related to his/her master's thesis upon request. After the expiration of a period of five years after the conclusion of the examination procedure, the master's theses shall be discarded, without prejudice to the provisions of subsection 2.

§ 28 Entry into Force

These regulations take effect on the day of their publication in the Official Announcements of the University of Potsdam and the Film University. These regulations apply to all students who are enrolled in the degree programs regulated by these regulations at the University of Potsdam and the Konrad Wolf Film University in Babelsberg after the effective date of these regulations.

Appendix 2: Sample Degree Progress Plans

The Master's program "European Film Business and Law" has a scope of 330 attendance hours (contact time) and 120 CP in the respective chosen degree, which are distributed over four semesters in the full-time program and six semesters in the part-time program. The courses are divided into ten mandatory and three elective modules for each chosen degree. One of the three elective modules must be taken in the appropriate subject area. The degree program can be started each year in the winter semester. The master's thesis will be written in the fourth (full-time study) or sixth semester (part-time study).
