ESSENTIAL LEGAL FRAMEWORK 2022

Workshops and online seminars designed to meet the specific needs of the European audiovisual industry

EUROPEAN CO-PRODUCTION LEGAL AND FINANCIAL ASPECTS*

October 20-22 in Berlin (excl. travel days)

While the importance of co-productions for the success of European film and series has continuously grown over the last few years, so have the difficulties film and TV professionals face when entering them.

The workshop enables participants to successfully handle the many challenges by combining case studies of recent film and series productions, exclusive insights from international film and TV experts and interactive sessions.

Join our online info session on September 8 to learn more about the program and its benefits.

YOUR MAIN BENEFITS

- In-depth understanding of the financial and legal framework of European co-production
- Exclusive insights into cutting-edge case studies
- Access to acclaimed producers and leading industry experts
- Excellent opportunities for networking and group collaboration

DIGITAL DISTRIBUTION - MAXIMIZING REACH AND REVENUES*

December 01-03 in Berlin (excl. travel days)

The audiovisual industry has been undergoing major changes in the last years. Media professionals must learn to adapt quickly to new conditions in order to keep their business alive.

The workshop supports participants in navigating these new difficult waters: it provides an overview of the market and alternative distribution models as well as tips on how to monetize content and reach a wider audience.

Register on our website to receive updates on the workshop.

YOUR MAIN BENEFITS

- Latest expertise from internationally acclaimed trainers
- Opportunity to test and apply the acquired knowledge
- Excellent networking opportunities
- Insight into successful distribution strategies and marketing campaigns

GREENING THE INDUSTRY*

September 27, 2022 | Online

In recent years, media professionals have become more aware of the impact their work has on the environment. However, they often do not have the knowledge or tools to implement more sustainable practices in their day-to-day work. This compact online seminar gives insight into helpful strategies and tools to work in a more environmentally friendly way and shows that sustainability and economic success do not have to be mutually exclusive.

SERIES' WOMEN

APPLICATION DEADLINE: SEPTEMBER 19, 2022

SERIES' WOMEN, the first career enhancement program for female producers in the European drama series industry, enters its next edition. The program, which will kick-off in late 2022, will once again combine a broad variety of elements, including state-of-the-art training opportunities addressing topics such as visibility, leadership and digital entrepreneurship, curated 1:1 mentoring by senior industry experts and pitching coaching by a designated expert. Networking opportunities at two of Europe's most important industry markets and direct access to decision makers and top industry players round off the program and will further boost the producers' careers.

New to the program is a diversity training directed at hiring managers or respective decision makers in the producers' companies. Through this online training, SERIES' WOMEN addresses the topic of gender equality and diversity not only at an individual level by supporting the producers, but sets out to enable change at the organizational level and make companies more competitive and sustainable in the process.
